

UK GDP grows 0.2% in Q2; shows faster recovery

British gross domestic product (GDP) in the second quarter of 2023 was 0.2 per cent higher than the quarter before, figures from the Office for National Statistics showed on Friday. Economists polled by Reuters had forecast a reading showing quarterly growth of 0.2 per cent, unchanged from an initial estimate published on August 11. The economy as a whole in the second quarter of 2023 was 1.8 per cent larger than in the final.

REUTERS