The Commerce Ministry is likely to announce the long-pending new foreign trade policy on September 29 with a focus on promoting ease of trade, e-commerce, IT-enablement, R&D, export hubs and lowering transaction costs, said a source tracking the matter.

“The long-term FTP, which has been delayed by over two years due to the Covid-19 disruptions, will be implemented from October 1, and is likely to be for a full five-year period, till 2027, to give much-needed policy stability to exporters,” said the source.

“While there is not much expectation in terms of fiscal benefits with existing schemes such as RoDTEP and RoSCTL taking care of input duty remissions for exporters, there could be some incentives for promoting research & development and innovation,” said the source.

DIGITAL FOCUS

IT-enablement is likely to be a focus area as the government is seeking to promote digitisation in a big way and make available most benefits and facilities available to ex-

“The current system restricts exports with DGFT offices having jurisdiction over their entities. In electronic processing, such jurisdiction is not relevant.

“The application for authorisations and amendments may be marked by the system to any officer based on the workload in a faceless manner for optimum utilisation of manpower and give the advantage of faceless processing to exporters,” FIEO pointed out.
